Task Force Recommendation #1: (i)

Don't increase workloads

The very first recommendation of the Workload Task Force dealt with flexibility. Here's what the Task Force said:

1: (i) "The total workload of any participating teacher under a Modified Workload Arrangement should not exceed his or her workload in the preceding academic year".

"We consider that any concerns over a potential radical departure from the formula are met by recommendation 1:(i) and the concept of reasonability"

Here's the colleges' response to the very first item on a report THEY unanimously agreed to:

"We will not implement this recommendation"

This adds up to increased workload for some...and job losses for others

On February 10, don't let the Colleges give your job to someone else

Vote to reject the employer's offer.
